RECENT DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS

Tee Time	Final bootcamp team project: A full stack, MERN application for real-time, multi-user golf score tracking (and therefore mobile focused) web application, with secure user authentication and password encryption, user to user messaging, and historical stat viewing. My primary role was user authentication, database set up, and data structure. View deployed application at www.teetimeproject.com .
Scrabble Dabble	First bootcamp team project: A fast-paced, timed, word spelling, single player game with local storage-based high score tracking. Utilized dictionary based API for word verification and logic to determine viability. My primary role was functional logic around user submissions and viability. View deployed application at www.scrabble-dabble.com .
